ANSE BUNDREN SITTING IN COVERED WAGON

Bundren's Attempt River Crossing, Suffer Heavy Losses

The Bundren family is really cutting it close this time! When we left off, they were about to cross a river, but there was a problem. "I just said to Tull, 'You ought to let them taken your mule.'" But, this wouldn't have helped at all, according to Tull. "What good would that a done? If your team cant find the ford and haul it across, what good would three mules, or even ten mules do?" replied Tull.

Finally, a ford was found and they attempted to cross the river. With the aid of Tull, they attempted to cross the river. However, as they were crossing the river, a log was coming downstream fast! So, Darl decided to dive out of the wagon while it gets hit by the log. Then, Cash's tools were scattered in the river and the coffin was also in the water! Darl was told how to pick up the coffin out of the water, but he didn't listen. According to Vardaman, he "came up out of the water with his hands up." He didn't manage to pull the coffin out of the water! Then, Jewel tries and saves the coffin and he gathers all of his tools, too! And the mules all came up out of the water, drowned. How will they make it back home? Stay tuned to our next edition, then!
